A Note from the Vice-Abbott:

The Lohan Spiritual and Cultural Center is a place where groups and individuals from diverse backgrounds meet to learn, practice and exchange ideas. Teachers literally come from around the world to share their wisdom in our Temple. I would like to encourage all of those who have not already done so to become members. Our yearly dues are quite modest - $30/individual and $50/family. In addition to having a vote in determining the course and direction of the LSCC at our yearly meeting, contributing members help sustain the vitality and breadth of our facilities, programs, and traditions. Members also qualify for scholarships, can attend "members-only" classes, and will be eligible for discounts at certain local businesses with their membership cards.

Contemplation:

"It is important to understand that the only time that exists is the present time, and therefore there can be no predestination, no "fate" whatsoever. It is also impossible that two or more distinct instances of thinking should occur in the exact same moment. Everything that is perceived is the manifestation of single-present-thinking only.

In general, thinking is the instantaneous process of choosing, or grasping, the object of thinking. Whatever choice is made, this can be seen as the cause for the experience of, as well as the direction that thinking takes into, the following moment. Repeatedly thinking of an object is meditation. The meditation of positively thinking of Buddha two or more times is Dharma practice."
